

Templo Bahá'í

Description

Located in Santiago, Chile, the Bahá'í temple is a Bahá'í House of Worship designed by Canadian architect Siamak Hariri. Opened in 2016, the place welcomes practitioners of all religions without any distinctions, as the Bahá'í faith dictates. The monument was built from marble and cast glass and won architecture and innovation awards between 2017 and 2019.

Metadata

- City: Santiago
- Country: Chile
- GPS Coordinates: 33.4722 ° S, 70.5092 ° O
- Landmarks: Monuments
- Cadastral Number: CL.L.M.S.1